THE PRESIDENT EN ROUTE

THE LONG TALKED OF WESTERN TRIP BEGUN.

Departure of the Presidential Party from Washington—Arrival at the Depot and Getting Aboard—Who Compose the Party—Safe Arrival in Baltimore.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—President Cleveland and Mrs. Cleveland began their tour of the west and south to-day. Their departure from Washington this morning was under a bright sky and pleasant auspices. The special train bearing the small and select party left the Baltimore & Potomac depot promptly at 10 o'clock this morning. An hour before this a number of people assembled in the depot, and while awaiting the arrival of the president and Mrs. Cleveland, were admiring the special train, a marvel of elegance, ease and comfort.

At about a quarter to 10 o'clock the president and Mrs. Cleveland, accompanied by Mrs. Folsom, arrived at the B street entrance, and passing through the waiting room at once walked down the platform and entered the president's private car. Secretaries Fairchild and Whitney were waiting on the platform to see the president off, and Secretary Bayard, accompanied by his daughter, Secretary Endicott, and Public Printer Benedict came along a few minutes later and all stepped into the president's car. Col. Lamont, his wife and two children, Dr. Bryant and Mr. Bissell, and Messrs. DeGraw and Bickford, the two press representatives who accompany the party, were all on board the train. Then there was a few moments spent in handshaking, with good wishes for a safe and pleasant journey, and the friends who come to bid the president and Mrs. Cleveland and Col.
Lamont good by left the train.

The traveling party consisted exclusively of the president and Mrs. Cleveland, Messrs.
Bissell and Bryant and Col. Lamont; P. V.
DeGraw, the representative of the United Press; F. T. Bickford, of the Associated Press, and Superintendent Baldwin, of the Pullman Palace Car company.

As the president walked up the long platform, escorted by Marshal Wilson, he said:
"More Cleveland weather, I see." The sun shone for the first time since Sunday just as the presidential party left for the depot.
Maj. Carson, of the Philadelphia Ledger, escorted Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. Folsom from the depot entrance to the train. Mrs.
Cleveland was dressed in an India silk traveling dress of black and white stripes. A jaunty-looking turban formed the head dress.

Promptly at 10 o'clock the train started, and in a moment was lost to view on its way to Baltimore. Conductor Haversick was in charge of the train, and Engineer Frank Carver was in control of engine No.
64, which is to convey the presidential train as far as Baltimore.

As the train moved out of the depot Mrs.
Cleveland was seated alone near the forward end of the car, while the president occupied a seat alone near the middle of the car. Hats were raised and waved by friends and spectators in the depot as the train moved out, and to these salutes both the president and Mrs. Cleveland responded by bowing and smiling until out of sight.

The presidential train will reach St. Louis late Saturday night or Sunday morning.
Stops for a few hours will be made at Indianapolis and Terre Haute. The party will arrive at Indianapolis to-morrow at 11 a. m.; leave Indianapolis at 3 p. m., arrive at Terre Haute at 5:30 p. m.; leave Terre Haute at 8:15 p. m., arrive at St. Louis at midnight.
The party will leave St. Louis October 4, tober 22 at 6 a. m. No stops will be made except at the points mentioned. All reception committees are requested to meet the president at the respective cities instead of en route.

In Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 1.—President Cleveland's special train arrived at the Union depot at 11:10 this morning. Five hundred people had assembled at the depot behind the iron railing to see the chief magistrate and his wife. Most of the spectators were ladies. A squad of policemen were on hand to preserve order. Mr. Cleveland took no direct notice of the crowd, except once when he raised his hat. Neither he nor Mrs.
Cleveland appeared on the outside of the crowd, but viewed the assembly through the plate glass windows of their car. There was no cheering on the part of the people.
James Kernan, a bookkeeper for C. Y.
Davidson & Co., who had pushed himself through the gate with some others, and who had more than his usual allowance on board, approached the president's car and pointed on the window beside which President Cleveland was sitting, and intimated by his gestures that he wanted the president to address the crowd. This Mr. Cleveland by a shake of the head declined. Kernan then boarded the car and shook hands with Mrs. Cleveland in such a way as to make a Foraker sick with envy. He then stoutly dapped the president on the back to the avid amusement of the latter, at the same time saying: "Grover, old boy, I'm glad to see you," and repeated his invitation to the president to make a speech.
The crowd stared open mouthed at this phenomenal display of gigantic temerity, but was convulsed with laughter.
Passing London park before reaching

Baltimore, the train was heartily cheered by a gang of navvies.
The train steamed out of Union depot with a fresh engine.

Brought Before the United States Court.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 1.—An Evening Journal special from Morehead, Minn., says: Yesterday morning United States Commissioner Tillotson held McFeely, station agent of the Manitoba road here, under $1,000 bond to appear before the district court at St. Paul October 3, and answer to the charge of violating sections 3 and 4 of the interstate commerce law. McFeely had refused to transfer wheat from the Manitoba to the Northern Pacific tracks, and complaint was made against him by a farmer named Benedict. This is the first instance, or among the first, in which a case involving the violation of the law has been brought before a United States court, instead of before the commission.

JUDGE GRESHAM INTERVIEWED.

He Corrects a False Impression Relative to His Candidacy for President.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 1.—Judge W. Q.
Gresham, of the United States circuit court bench, has recently been in New York, and returned to this city, where he spent a day with his friends. He was looking particularly well and was very picture of good health. He conversed quite freely while awaiting the departure of his train yesterday, and talked in his peculiar forcible and entertaining manner. During his visit to New York, and, in fact, for a year or so past, Judge Gresham has figured strongly as a presidential quality. That is, his name has been used in this respect, although largely unwarranted. Judge Gresham was quoted in several New York papers as having stated that he thought it a pardonable pride to desire a nomination for the presidency of this country, and looked upon such ambition as a perfectly proper one and not to be ashamed of. This matter was brought up during the conversation and appears to be a sore point with him.

"I never made any such statement or said anything that could be interpreted to mean anything of the kind," he said. "I have never thought of being a candidate for president and shall not become a candidate."

"Who is your choice, judge, for the Republican nomination?"

"I am not in position to discuss politics," he answered; "in fact, I have nothing to say on that point."

At this the cry "all aboard" was heard from the conductor, and Judge Gresham, mounting the steps of a Pullman sleeper, was soon speeding toward Chicago.

Horse Hydrophobia.

DETROIT, Oct. 1.—A case of horse hydrophobia in the township of Greenfield is exciting much interest among the medical fraternity, especially in view of certain experiments made by Health Officer Duffield and Veterinary Surgeon Murray. A week ago Richard Reed was bitten by a favorite horse, which had been sick and had become violent. The wound was cauterized after Veterinary Murray had pronounced the horse afflicted with rabies. Reed at once had the horse killed. The spinal cord was secured, and yesterday afternoon two white rabbits were inoculated with the virus, and several dogs trepanned and cloths of the cord laid on their brains. Reed is a wealthy farmer, and is wrought up to a high pitch.
He at first decided to wait five days to learn the result of the experiments begun yesterday, but later he changed his mind, and will start for Paris at once to consult Pasteur.
Reed is fifty years old.

Another Fool Yells "Fire."

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—During the performance at the Grand opera house last night, a man in the gallery shouted "fire." The audience rose and many started for the door. The actors shouted to them that there was no fire, and urged the people to resume their seats. The policemen on duty inside the theater closed the doors and kept the people back by flourishing their clubs, shouting meanwhile that there was no fire.
The panic lasted nearly five minutes, but the action of the officers seemed effective, and no crush occurred. A few ladies fainted, but no one was hurt. Most of the audience remained until the play was over.
The man who caused the trouble was arrested and looked up. He said his name was Bebe.

Jake Sharp Not Taken to Sing Sing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The granting by Chief Justice Ruger of an order to the district attorney of New York to show cause on October 6, why a permanent stay in the Sharp case shall not issue, has the effect of preventing the prisoner from being removed to Sing Sing for the present, and if the permanent stay is granted Sharp will remain where he is until the court of appeals has reviewed the case. The order was obtained by John M. Perry, who applied for it in Syracuse last Saturday. A representative of Perry met the chief justice on his arrival in Albany last night, received the document and started at once for New York with it.
The granting of a stay by the court of appeals in a criminal case is extremely rare.

Telephone Manager Arrested.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 1.—Louis C.
Duneth, local manager of the Central Union Telephone company, was arrested here last night by J. B. Stanley, deputy sheriff of Cass county, on four indictments returned by the grand jury of that county, charging him with violating the law in making greater charge than the statute allows for telephone service. He was manager at Logansport before coming here, and inaugurated a coupon system, selling 400 tickets for $13, these tickets to be used within three months or become worthless.
He was taken to Logansport this morning to answer the charge. It is the first case of the kind on record, and will create a furore in telephone circles.

A Mississippi Steamer Burned.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 1.—The steamer T. B. Sims burned this morning sixteen miles above Memphis. One life lost. Particulars later. The passenger lost was a young man named Bunch, from Illinois, who was a passenger. The Sims was formerly the D. R. Powell, and was purchased by Capt. T. B. Sims several months ago from the Anchor Line company for $30,000.
Boat and cargo are a total loss.

THROUGH OHIO BY WATER

A PROPOSED CANAL FROM LAKE ERIE TO THE OHIO RIVER.

The Opinion of a Number of Prominent People on the Subject, and the Feasibility of the Plan Considered—Estimated Cost of Putting it Through.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 1.—The Blade yesterday evening publishes opinions from several Ohio congressmen, and from Senators Sherman and Payne on the proposed ship canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio river. Senator Sherman says:

"In reply to your circular of August 23, I have to answer that I doubt the expediency of building a canal on the route proposed from Cincinnati to Lake Erie. If recommended, however, by the United States engineers, and it can be shown that it is a work of practical utility, likely to produce the effects suggested, I will vote for it, but my impressions are against its expediency."

Senator Payne says: "In reply to the questions propounded in your letter of the 28th ult., I have to say that the project of a ship canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio river has not been considered by me, and therefore I am not prepared to answer, further than to say that I would favor a reasonable appropriation for a preliminary survey."

Ben. Butterworth says: "I wish to say that I have not considered the practicability of constructing a commercial highway of the character you mention between the lake and the Ohio river, and would not pass an opinion without further investigation than I have been able to give the subject.
Whether I would vote an appropriation would depend, of course, upon the feasibility and desirability of the work proposed.
If such work is practicable it would, of course, be of great advantage to Ohio, and, in fact, to our whole country."

Congressman S. S. Yoder, of Lima, suggests that the boards of trade and the chambers of commerce of Ohio cities hold a meeting at Toledo in the near future to determine upon some uniform plan of action.

Congressman Boothman, of Bryan, favors the project, as do Congressmen Romeis, Crouse, E. B. Taylor, Charles E. Brown, Williams and Cooper.

Beriah Wilkins says: "I would favor the survey of at least two routes from the Ohio to the lakes—one from Cincinnati to Toledo, via probably the Miami canal, the other being via the Muskingum river, already owned by the government, to Zanesville, thence by the Ohio canal to the Cuyahoga river at Cleveland."

James E. Campbell says: "Appendix K to the annual report of the chief engineer, United States army, for 1881, contains the preliminary surveys and estimates for enlarging the Miami and Erie canal. The total estimated cost, as there exhibited, would be $28,557,113.13. I would not favor another survey unless the former is inaccurate. In that event I would most heartily urge further surveys. Your second and third queries I answer affirmatively. I have always ardently desired to see a ship canal from Toledo to Cincinnati. I examined the subject with some care in the Forty-eighth congress, but abandoned the project owing to the enormous cost. As between the proposed Hennepin canal and the enlargement of the Miami and Erie, the advantages are all with the latter. If any concerted plan of action to improve the Miami and Erie is concocted you may be assured of my untiring aid."

Charged With Murdering Her Lover.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 1.—One of the most sensational trials ever held in this state is now in progress at Romney, Hampshire county. About a year ago Miss Annie E. Offner, a beautiful young woman, and Mr. Benjamin Brooks, a well known young man who resided in the neighborhood, were lovers. Although not yet married, it was charged that their intimacy was carried on to a criminal extent. There was no denial of the charge, but it appears Brooks had promised to marry the girl and failed to fulfill his agreement, although importuned to do so. One day the dead body of Brooks was found lying in a field shot through the brain, and about the time the shot was fired Miss Offner was seen riding down the road and away from the scene. This and other circumstances caused her arrest, and she is now undergoing trial for the murder of Brooks at Romney. Miss Offner is defended by some of the best talent in the state, Senator Flournoy, Hon. F. M. Reynolds and Col. Alex. Moore. St. Louis' Attorney Daily has charge of the prosecution. The trial is attracting attention far and wide, owing to the prominence of the parties concerned.

Thrown From a Train.

PARIS, Ky., Oct. 1.—Yesterday morning John Kelly and Bob Sheridan, of Mount Sterling, attempted to make their way to Maysville on top of a freight train, and the former was probably fatally injured. Just before getting to Millersburg Kelly caught hold of a brake, which threw him off on a pile of stones, injuring him internally. He was picked up and taken to the town, where he now lies in a critical condition. Sheridan leaped off at the same time, but escaped with slight injuries.

Old Woman Burned to Death.

GEORGETOWN, O., Oct. 1.—Mrs. Hutchinson and Amelia Speech, two colored women, resided in a small house on the farm of B. B. Gardner, in Lewis township.
Mrs. Hutchinson went to Mr. Gardner's residence to do some housework, leaving Amelia Speech, who was old and infirm, at home brooding coffee. In some way the house caught fire and was burned before the neighbors arrived. The poor old negro woman perished in the flames.

Defaulter Burk Returns Home.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 1.—Ex-County Treasurer Burk, who misappropriated $50,- 000, has arrived from San Francisco, where he surrendered himself a month ago.

The Election in Tennessee.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 1.—Returns from all portions of the state indicate that the prohibition amendment is defeated by 30,000 or more.

G. A. R. MEETING.

The Proceedings of the Encampment at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Oct. 1.—The rank and file of the Grand Army comrades that remain in the city have packed their gripsacks, and are not only ready but anxious to make tracks for home. When they can get away, however, is a matter of speculation, the facilities at the Union depot having proven entirely inadequate to the handling of large gatherings of people, and thousands of veterans and other visitors who expected to be home ere this morning, are still being held involuntarily and unwilling prisoners.
The baggage department, too, has given out under the crush, and depot platforms, freight houses and storage rooms are packed high with a miscellaneous assortment of baggage, that it has been impossible to deliver.

Promptly at 9 o'clock this morning the encampment resumed its session. Not a delegate was absent, and the prospects indicated a lively meeting. No sooner had the gavel fallen than Comrade Beath was upon his feet to denounce as an "infamous lie and slander" the statement of a morning paper that he had said "there never was a Democratic commander-in-chief of the G. A. R." and by the eternal God there never would be. Reynolds, of New York, replied that no member of the New York delegation was responsible for the charge, and the matter was dropped. Then Tanner, of New York, rose to a question of privilege. He said that yesterday the same paper stated that he was putting the knife under Slocum's ribs. This was an absolute lie. The same paper had published an editorial on the pension question in which it said that life had been altogether pleasant for Tanner since the war closed, and that it was not too much to say that he would not have his legs back under any consideration. He said that nothing fitted such statements as that except plain Anglo-Saxon—they lied.

Comrade Anthony, of Kansas, made an attempt to reconsider the report of the committee on resolutions, by which a proposition to raise money for the erection of a monument to Gen. Warren was defeated, but he was cut short by the arrival of the committee on resolutions. Amid intense silence the committee reported unfavorably upon the Vandervoort resolution, censuring the president for his veto of the dependent pension bill, on the ground that it had been fully covered by the action on the report of the pension committee. A long debate ensued.

Vandervoort opened by claiming that the Grand Army should have the courage of its convictions, and should vote as it felt upon this question.

Grosvonor, of Ohio, spoke in favor of the report, and said he had as much feeling upon the pension question as any other man, but he stood as the representative of a body of men greater than the president of the United States; greater than the congress of the United States, and more dignified in their utterances than the president had shown himself to be. He said the question was more important than any other that had been submitted in a National encampment; that the question was what the encampment ought to do, whether it ought to make platforms for political parties, or ought to state its position in a dignified manner, as though there never had been a president of the United States. The Grand Army, he said, should stand as a mountain upon the plain, regardless of the coyotes at the feet of it, proclaiming in majestic words that it was in favor of this pension legislation and opposed to every attack upon the interests of the soldiers.

After several other addresses, the previous question was brought into play. Vande-voort's amendment to substitute his resolutions for the report was overwhelmingly defeated, and the report adopted by a unanimous vote.

The committee also presented a majority and minority report on the $5 a month or service pension bill. The majority of the committee reported against the measure and the minority of five (the committee consisting of one from each department) reported in its favor. One hour was given to the discussion of the report.

Death of Dr. Kitto.

FIGALENA, Ill., Oct. 1.—Edward D.
Kitto, one of the oldest and most eminent medical practitioners in Illinois, died yesterday of heart disease. Dr. Kitto was seventy-two years old and a native of England.
He resided in Northumberland county, Pennsylvania, for a period of twenty years after immigrating to America, and settled in 1855 for the practice of his profession.
He entered the army during the war of the rebellion in August, 1861, as surgeon of the Forty-fifth Illinois infantry. He was subsequently appointed on Gen. Sherman's staff, where he remained until the fall of Vicksburg, when he was ordered to Gen.
Grant's staff and made medical inspector of the hospitals in that department. When Gen. Grant left for the east to take command of the Army of the Potomac, Dr.
Kitto was made inspector general of the hospital service in the northwest and held that position until the spring of 1863.

Tired of Prohibition.

MILLERSBURG, O., Oct. 1.—Killbuck, a small village six miles south of here, has had prohibition since May, under the Dow law, and now a petition is being circulated asking the council to repeal the ordinance, as they claim that as beer and whisky are being sold just outside the corporation, and that there is as much drunkenness in and about the town, they might as well have it sold in the town and get the revenue for the village, which they claim is needed badly just now. The application will be fought strenuously by the Prohibitionists before the council and it may again be submitted to vote.

Attorney General Garland Starts Home.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 1.—Attorney General Garland came in Wednesday from his hunting lodge, a few miles from town, intending to spend some days with friends here. Upon his arrival here he received a telegram, calling him immediately to Washington. He started for that point at once.

A Non-Union Man's Rights.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Judge Barrett yesterday decided that the boycotting of a non-union laborer by a labor organization is punishable under the law against conspiracy.

Damages Awarded.

THE jury in the case of the Maysville & Big Sandy Railroad Company against Pogue & Thomas for right of way through the latter's distillery property in the West End rendered a verdict yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, allowing defendants $5,107 for the ground taken and the damage to adjacent property. This is but $107 more than the award of the Commissioners made some days ago. The defendants get the brick and other material on the ground in addition to the above sum.

Last of the Season.

IT is said "that you can't keep a good man down." It is certain that Maysville is very hard to head. The management of the Young Men's Kentucky Fair Company of that city, after a succession of brilliant successes, was supposed to have been satisfied for this season with their last and best meeting. But having sixteen hundred dollars more in their surplus than there was any particular need for, they have offered it in four purses of $400 each to the following classes, viz. 2:35, 2:26, 2:30 and 2:20, to be trotted for on Wednesday and Thursday, October 19th and 20th. Entries close Monday, October 10th. The association reserves the right (which they will never be called upon to exercise) to declare off unless there be five entries in each race.—Kentucky Stock Farm.

Never Before

did we start a season's business with the rush we did this Fall's trade, and if better goods for less money than can be found in any other house in the State will help to continue the rush, we will keep it up at a lively gait. Our Tailor-made Clothing has gained such an enviable reputation that we hardly need call attention to them. Everybody wears them; they advertise themselves. For this season we have made up perfect gems in the way of Cheviot and Scotch Suitings. We have them in Stripes, neat Checks and Plain Mixtures. The very thing for a nice, genteel Fall and Winter Suit. In WORSTED SACK, CUTAWAY and PRINCE ALBERT SUITS, we show a vast variety, many of them Silk and Satin-lined; and by the way, we sell these elaborately trimmed Suits as cheap as you pay for ordinary trimmed goods elsewhere. For the little ones and further-along youngsters we have thousands of nice, nobby things, and the prices will please the parents.

In Gent's Furnishing Goods, such as fine Shirts, Underwear, Hosiery, Hats, Scarfs, &c., we are, as always, Headquarters. In our Tailoring Department we have already had to hang up our sign, "standing room only." The rush has been unprecedented, but is it a wonder? Look at the work we turn out; it explains itself. Respectfully,

HECHINGER & CO.,

AMONG the pictures of prominent Grand Army men attending the National Encampment at that place, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat has one intended for Dr. William Bowman, of Tollesboro. His friends would never recognize it, however, as it is not near as handsome and commanding as the original.

THE Manchester Signal tells a rather romantic story this week about a woman named Steiner, of Covington, discovering at Dunkinsville, Adams County, a son whom she had not seen for eighteen years. The child had been abducted when a babe, and while the mother was ill with small-pox in one of the hospitals at Cincinnati.

JOHN H. FIELDS, the old man who attempted to kill his wife and two sons near Millwood last spring, and then tried to take his own life, returned this week from Lexington, where he has been confined in the asylum for several months. The Flemingsburg Times-Democrat says: "He is very much improved in physical condition and appears to be mentally restored."

THURSDAY morning, John Kelly and Bob Sheridan, of Mt. Sterling, attempted to make their way to this city on top of a freight train. Just before reaching Millersburg Kelly caught hold of a brake, which threw him off on a pile of stones, injuring him internally. He was picked up and taken to the town, where he was reported at last accounts in a critical condition. Sheridan leaped off at the same time, but escaped with slight injuries.

THE COVETED CUP IS OURS

THE VOLUNTEER WINS THE SECOND GREAT YACHT RACE.

England's Fast Sailing Vessel Proves to Be No Competitor to Captain Paine's Little Boat—The Beautiful Sight of the White Winged Cutters at Sea.

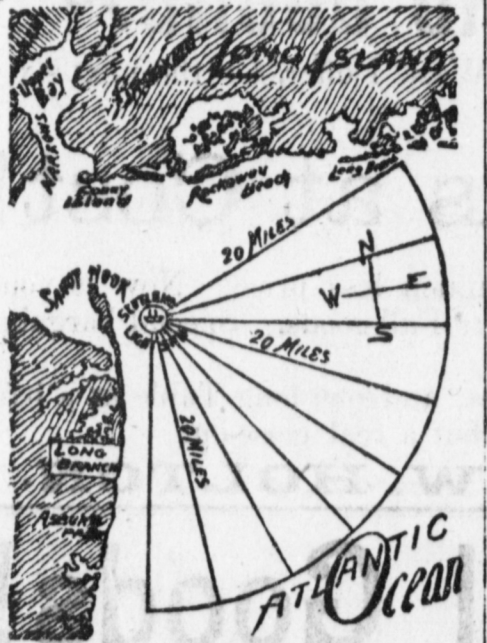

THE VOLUNTEER AND THE CUP DEFENDERS.

HIGHLAND, N. J., Oct. 1.—The weather today, the day fixed for sailing the postponed race in the contest between the Volunteer and Thistle, was almost a repetition of that of yesterday. A heavy mist hung over the ocean and in the early morning it was impossible to see more than fifty feet from the shore, but as the hours wore along the mist gradually lifted, and a drenching rain set in. The wind, meanwhile, increased and by 10 o'clock it was blowing at the rate of fifteen to twenty miles per hour from the east-northeast. The mist was driven in shore before the breeze and it soon had cleared enough to make a race possible. The Horseshoe at Sandy Hook presented the same crowded appearance as on the previous day. Excursion steamboats and crafts of all descriptions were assembled at an early hour awaiting patiently the will of the elements.

Following close in their wake came a swarm of crafts that huddled about the lights like a swarm of bees. The contestants on nearing the lightship went about and began sparring for the start.

At 10:32 the preparatory gun was fired, followed ten minutes later by the signal to start. In less than it takes to tell it both yachts were headed for the starting line, crossing close together three minutes after the signal to start had been given. They had their head sails sprit, topsails and main-sails set, and moved along at a lively rate. The Thistle was to windward, and the Volunteer appeared to be getting as much wind as her Scotch rival and seemed to be slightly in the lead. There would be little doubt from the view obtained that the Volunteer was clearly out pointing the Thistle. They soon disappeared, however, and fifteen minutes after the start not a glimpse of gallant sloop and her saucy Scotch opponent could be seen through the prevailing mist and rain. The course laid for the race is twenty miles to windward from the starting to point and return.

COURSE OF THE SECOND RACE.

The Volunteer turned the stake boat at 1:20 and was returning to the finishing line with spinnaker to port and mainsail to starboard. She broke out a balloon jib topsail after rounding. The Volunteer appears to take to the swell with better grace than the Thistle. The latter was all awash. She buries her bows dreadfully, and it was plain to be seen she was carrying too much canvas. The flagship Electra was running on the starboard side of the Volunteer. All the excursions on boats steered ahead, giving her a great deal of their wash.

THE THISTLE AND THE CUP HUNTERS.

The Volunteer maintained the lead all the way back, and crossed the line at 4:34:10, amid a din of whistles and booming of guns which continued for fully five minutes. The Thistle came in just ten minutes later, crossing at 4:34:10.

Another Excursion Train Wrecked. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—At 12:15 this morning a Missouri Pacific excursion train was wrecked at Valley Park station, nineteen miles from this city. The train was loaded with Grand Army men and their families and excursionists, who had been in the city to see the trades pageant, and left the Union depot at 11 p. m., closely followed by a second section. At Valley Park the first train was delayed, and through a misunderstanding of signals—it is claimed that no danger signal was on the rear of the first section—the second section came crashing into the rear chair coaches at almost full speed, demolishing two chair cars, which at once caught fire and were consumed. The engineer and fireman of the second section were seriously and probably fatally injured. The passengers were badly shaken up and many slightly injured, but late reports say there were no fatalities.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 1.—Yesterday at 3 o'clock John Marrs, aged ten years, son of the chief of police, attempted to get on the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago freight transfer on Fifteenth street, when he fell under the train, two cars passing over him.
